FLEKKE

GLOCAL CHALLENGE

30 people - 30 days - exploring local solutions to global challenges

UWC Red Cross Nordic invites 30 local people and global citizens to participate in an exciting sustainability experiment.

We're looking for 30 people to commit to one small environmental change for 30-days. Share their stories and inspire people along the way. And discover how one small change really can make a big difference!

How it works

1

Attend the all-day kick-off workshop on 24 September 2018
with sustainability transformations
professor, Karen O'Brien.

2

Choose one small change that benefits the environment. It's up to you what you choose. Here are some examples:

- Cycle to work three times a week
- Eat vegetarian three times a week
- Stop using plastic bags when you shop
- Pick up rubbish when you're walking
- Start conversations with people about climate change
- Go without lights for 1 hour three times a week

3

Commit to your change for 30 days (25 Sept – 24 Oct). Your challenge should not be too easy or difficult – it should be a stretch.

4

Create a profile on flekkeglobal.cchallenge.no. This is where you share your experiences by posting messages, photos and videos. Don't forget to talk with people around you about your experiment.

5

Get personal support from a cCHANGE climate coach along the way.

6

Join us for a Reflection Workshop in February 2019.

Curious about how one small change can make a big difference?

THE TEAM BEHIND Flekke GLOCAL CHALLENGE

This project is delivered by cCHANGE, an Oslo-based company founded by University of Oslo Professor Karen O'Brien and Linda Sygna. cCHANGE brings together an interdisciplinary team with world-leading researchers on green transformation, sustainability and change.

Flekke's GLOCAL CHALLENGE project uses cCHALLENGE, a solution developed by Karen O'Brien at the University of Oslo. cCHALLENGE is based on years of research and teaching related to climate change and transformations to sustainability. Through its transformative program, cCHALLENGE helps people to see where, why and how they make a difference. This opens space for real and lasting change, including the systemic changes needed to create an equitable and sustainable world.

UWC Red Cross Nordic is a place where students meet the big world in their own environment. The college at Haugland in Fjaler gives them a great opportunity to learn about global issues, through local examples and explore climate change widely, through more than textbooks or the media. Students get to know other students from all over the world and gain awareness about the global consequences of their personal decisions.

Flekke GLOCAL CHALLENGE will build ecological citizenship skills and trigger the desire, knowledge, and ability to act by encouraging participants to:

- Reflect on values and question habits
- Recognize the interconnectivity of natural and social systems
- Learn by doing
- Ask questions and listen to others
- Manage complexity and discomfort
- Appreciate different perspectives
- Become self-evolving learners using their adaptability and creativity
