Further information

School profile

UWC is a global movement that uses education as a force to unite people, nations and cultures for peace and a sustainable future. Across 18 schools and colleges worldwide, students are selected through national committees based on their potential to contribute positively to their communities, independent of their financial means.

Founded in 1995, UWC Red Cross Nordic offers a two-year academic and experiential programme for approximately 200 students aged 16-20. All students study the International Baccalaureate Diploma Programme, which provides a rigorous academic framework grounded in inquiry, critical thinking and global contexts.

Academic learning is complemented by a rich residential, experiential and extra-academic programme, guided by our educational model: Red Cross humanitarian action, peacebuilding, environmental stewardship and Friluftsliv advocacy. Through this, students develop awareness of self and others, systems thinking, respectful communication, inclusive collaboration, community participation, and compassionate leadership. Teachers contribute to all three programmes, creating learning that is purposeful, relational, reflective and transformative.

Students live in one of five residences and are supported by House Leaders and personal Advisors.

Student profile

UWC Red Cross Nordic students are academically motivated, curious and open to challenge. They come from a wide range of educational and cultural backgrounds, with the majority speaking a first language other than English. Some students arrive having experienced disruption or gaps in their prior schooling.

Students are selected for their potential to contribute meaningfully to a diverse community of learners and to grow through challenge, reflection and collaboration. They are encouraged to bring their experiences, values and perspectives into the classroom and community life.

Teacher profile

Teaching at UWC Red Cross Nordic is challenging, demanding and deeply rewarding. Teachers are expected to engage fully in the life of the College - as subject specialists, educators, advisors and community members.

We are looking for teachers who:

- care deeply about excellent teaching and learning
- can make their subject meaningful within local and global contexts
- enjoy working with highly diverse groups of young people
- are reflective, collaborative and open to ongoing professional growth

IB teaching experience is welcomed but not required. We value strong subject knowledge, thoughtful pedagogy and a clear commitment to educating young people in a holistic, student-centred environment.

The IB's Approaches to Teaching and Learning underpin academic life at the College. Teachers are expected to engage with conceptual understanding, Theory of Knowledge, Extended Essays and assessment. We value inquiry and continuous improvement, and are working towards NEASC accreditation.

All academic staff act as Advisors to a small group of students and contribute actively to the community life programme, supporting students' academic growth, wellbeing and sense of belonging within a deliberately diverse community. Teachers typically live on or near campus and are linked to one of the student residences.

Location and moving to Norway

UWC Red Cross Nordic is located in a beautiful and remote rural setting on the western coast of Norway, approximately three hours by car from Bergen and one hour from Førde. The College sits beside a fjord and is surrounded by mountains, forests and open water, offering exceptional access to outdoor environments.

Living and working in this location offers unique opportunities - for connection with nature, community life and a slower pace - as well as practical challenges. Applicants should be prepared for rural living, seasonal variation in light and weather, and limited immediate access to urban amenities. The nearest village shop is 40 minutes on foot from campus. The nearest (small) town is 15 minutes by car.

The College supports international staff in relocating to Norway, including guidance on visas, registration and practical matters. Willingness to adapt, learn and engage with Norwegian society and culture is important, and learning Norwegian is encouraged.
